

We, at Kodak Canada Inc., are committed to conducting our business in ways that respect the environment, including adherence to the principle of product stewardship.

Environmental protection is integral to the company's continual improvement process, which is aimed at ensuring that we meet the expectations of our customers, employees, and the community in which our products are manufactured, marketed and used.

Environmental Principles

Prevention of Pollution:

We will actively strive to minimize our impact on the environment by establishing objectives and targets aimed at: the minimization of waste through recycling, reduction, and reuse programs; the abatement of air emissions through monitoring and control measures; the protection of ground and surface waters through water treatment and the prevention of discharges; and the conservation of energy and resources.

Compliance:

We will meet or exceed the requirements of all applicable environmental legislation and regulations. Wherever practicable, we will also participate in voluntary government initiatives focused on reducing the environmental impact of our activities.

Customer Focus:

We will provide our customers with assistance and information in matters involving prevention of pollution and compliance with environmental laws and regulations, as they relate to our products.

Awareness:

We will effectively communicate our environmental policy to employees, contractors and suppliers to ensure continuing awareness of environmental issues and provide appropriate training on environmental matters to all employees. We will also ensure that this environmental policy is made available to any other interested party.

Continual Improvement:

We will evaluate and continually improve the effectiveness of our environmental management system through periodic audits, reviews and by ensuring the successful implementation of environmental objectives aimed at improving our overall environmental performance.
