

Environmental Leadership

Since it began in 1990, the TD Friends of the Environment Foundation has proudly supported the efforts of Canadians who are dedicated to the well-being of our environment. Some of these friends include:

- an orphaned wildlife facility that helped heal injured birds of prey and educated the community about threats to these species;
- a "floating" classroom for 200 high school students provided a first-hand experience of ecological issues that affect our country, inspiring a new generation of environmentalists; and,
- an urban wetland was restored to its former health attracting a diverse range of wildlife back to the city.

How you can contribute

For as little as $1.00 a month, you can join the Friends of the Environment Foundation and lend your support to projects that will benefit your community and the Canadian environment.

As a contributor, all of your donations go toward projects supported by the TD Friends of the Environment Foundation Community Fund — so you'll be able to see results in your community. TD makes your monthly donations go further by contributing $1 million per year to the TD Friends of the Environment Foundation. In addition to this contribution TD covers management and administrative costs associated with the foundation, so your donation stays within your community.

For donations of $10 or more per year, you will receive a charitable tax receipt for your contributions.

Help recommend projects for funding.

As a contributor to the TD Friends of the Environment Foundation, you can become a member of your local Advisory Board and help recommend which projects are supported through your Community Fund Chapter. Throughout the year, dedicated TD Canada Trust customers and employees review applications from local groups and organizations. There are more than 110 local advisory boards across Canada. For more information, contact your TD Friends of the Environment Foundation Regional Manager for details.

The TD Friends of the Environment Foundation Community Fund considers projects that meet the following criteria: protects and preserves the Canadian environment; assists young Canadians in understanding and participating in environmental activities in local communities; enhances co-operation among environmental organizations.

Applications to the Community Fund are reviewed throughout the year.
